

Spider Adapter & Recoil Guns

True to our philosophy of providing high end, budget friendly solutions for firearms training, Laser Ammo is offering an array of solutions for realistic device at home training, while assisting any level of shooter to overcome the need to rack the slide or cock the hammer of their carry gun, when training on speed transitional drills or any drill requiring multiple follow up shots.

The SPIDER converts airsoft or blank-conversion blowback pistols with picatinny rails, into laser-emitting, full-blowback training mechanisms. The SPIDER adapter houses the Laser Ammo SureStrike™ vibration cartridge and allows for windage and elevation alignment.

The SPIDER coordinates with simulators, training software, electronic targets and tactical vests.

Laser Ammo offers a series of RETP's (Recoil Enabled Training Pistols) that run off either green gas or CO2 (depending on option chosen). This combo allows the user to incorporate recoil into their training regimen, allowing the shooter to train in the most realistic manner possible. For options where we don't have a conversion barrel (REAL), the SPIDER is a viable alternative.
